

Planning for success

Prompt Card

Planning - Ancient Egyptian-style

This picture is from a tomb painting in Egypt. It dates from 1900 BC - so it's nearly 4000 years old. It shows ancient Egyptian people moving a huge statue on a giant sledge. Remember, in those days they had no computers, no machinery, no electricity - just their minds and their own physical strength.

- What do you think we can learn from the ancient Egyptians about planning?
- If you had to plan a project like this, what sort of things would you think about?

P.S. There's more help on planning for success in the Start Bouncing section of the Bounce Back website: www.bouncebacknewham.co.uk